A Visit to Wayne.

MONTICELLO, NOV. 14.—I know nothing harder in the annals of hard things than to try to write a letter fit to go before a scrutinizing public, when the writer is both inefficient in experience, deficient in thought, save to think what it might have been, and as blue as the clear sky over the election. Couple these three together, dear reader, and bear with me in the few following paragraphs. What I am aiming to tell you about is a trip I have just returned from to Monticello and Wayne county in general, in the interest of the "cheapest and best," where I am glad to say I succeeded both in adding to our already large list of subscribers, as well as returning with a well filled pocket-book.

Monticello is the same place in every particular that it was five years ago, when I made my first trip here. There is not a notable change I can find that has taken place, nor do I miss even the face of a single being, most all of whom I met then. But, while there is no change in the town, the sturdy merchants and business men have changed, or rather increased their worth, until the poor have gotten rich and the rich richer, making Monticello possess as many, if not more, substantial business men than any town of its size in my knowledge. There has been only one failure in the last six years and the drummers tell me they had as soon sell to Monticello merchants as to national banks. Besides being able to boast of substantial citizens, no town has a more sociable or kinder set of people than this and lastly, but by no means least, she has as pretty a lot of girls as any place, and I know of nothing that adds to a town more than the last named, for the dea creatures bring the young men, and they are the acknowledged men, in business and every other sense at this period.

Wayne county, bless the soil in her boundary, did noble work in the election. Although Finley had one of his sons in the county for two weeks, buying votes and sowing money, so to speak, the democrats, without the aid of a cent from Wolford, raised private subscriptions and carried it for him (Wolford) by 19 and Cleveland and Thurman by 1. It is thought that Finley spent at least $1,300 in the county. The respectable republicans are down on Finley because of his disgraceful conduct, and but for his money his show here would have been similar to that of a snow ball in hades.

G. Thomps Ramsey, who has been either sheriff or deputy in this county since 1875, and who has made an efficient officer, steps down and out on Jan. 1, to be succeeded by John Duncan, another good man, and a democrat. While there is a general regret that Mr. Ramsey leaves the office, it is consoling to know that the office is to be filled by a gentleman who will do credit to both himself and the party.

Bright Ferrill is indeed one of the boys down here and is as popular as he is well known. Those who heard him told me he made quite a number of speeches during the campaign, and his explanation and views on the tariff were so plain that even the children understood it. Bright is a clever, good fellow, and the men with whom he is associated in business speak of him in the most complimentary manner.

The republicans are preparing for a big jubilee Thursday night, when speakers of note will be present and no doubt tell them how Ben Harrison will save the world from ruin.

Mr. Cosby Oatts, a most estimable young man, and a very popular one, died Tuesday night of typhoid fever. He was a son of Capt. J. D. Oatts and although not a professor of religion, was a most conscientious young man.

The sickest man over the election, results is County Attorney Jack Sautley. He worked night and day for the democratic party, and when defeated all around it was about as much as he could bear. He is thinking of leaving here for the West and his departure will cause a general regret.

HUSTONVILLE.

—Miss Bettie Reid has been confined for three weeks with typhoid fever. J. J. Drye, having sold his farm, has moved to town, preparatory to a visit to Texas. The boys have a form of initiation thro' which they pass new comers, and called up their forces, but Jim had been there before, and playfully used his "hickory" to the development of cranial "bumps," not classified in phrenology.

—The Cleveland hat had a short run in Hustonville. But we possess instinct as to the "fitness of things," of which we are not a little vain. For instance, L. B. Adams came over Tuesday, neat and trim as usual, but wearing a hat, orthodox in shape, but of a novel and nondescript color. On being interrogated he said: "The Cleveland issues are not extinguished, but temporarily under a cloud. I hold to the form because it is suggestive of symmetrical and glorious principles. The color I have adopted shows that democracy is at present a soiled dove, simply from contact with baser things, and you notice I have used Diamond dye, not a fast color, to indicate that the obscuration will soon pass away. 'Hah for McCreary!'"

—Since the election universal dullness has brooded over our village. Everyone seems astonished at the result. The negroes alone are enthusiastic, and will press their claims for high official appointments. The third party did not make a brilliant campaign; and the promised political millennium is unavoidably postponed a few centuries. There is one, and only one, topic of universal interest now discussed in our community. The condition of Miss Jude Weatherford's health is a question of absorbing interest. Her multitude of friends are awaiting anxiously for the result. She herself seems to be the only one who can contemplate the question with perfect calmness. But the conflict is ended. At 6 o'clock Tuesday p. m. the gentle sufferer closed her eyes in peace. She had been for nine weeks confined to her bed and during that period not a murmur escaped her. She insisted to the last that she did not think that she was going to die, but awaited results in perfect composure. Her great solicitude was for her family and friends. She was not a member of any church, but from early childhood seems to have lived in the exercise of a christian faith, and during her guileless life illustrated the teachings of her Savior, in Whom she seemed to trust with implicit confidence. Early in her sickness she calmly asked for and received at the hands of her childhood's pastor, the ordinance of baptism. It was a ceremony that will never be forgotten by those who were present—memorable for the quiet, earnest, unostentatious and rational bearing of the recipient. A conviction that the summons had arrived came upon her Tuesday afternoon, the 13th inst. Without perturbation she called her friends around her and calmly said: "I am dying and wish to bid each one farewell." Giving her hands to each in turn, she delivered her parting admonitions in strains of angelic sweetness and thrilling eloquence. It was a glorious sermon. Finally she called for a song and a few of her young lady friends responded, and soon she passed away. She had just completed her 21st year.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—L. B. Carter has sold his property and will move to Indiana.

—The Jackson county grand jury has indicted a number of vote sellers.

—The case of T. F. Chestnut, charged with adultery, was called Monday and dismissed, no witnesses appearing.

—Mrs. Dr. West, of Kingston, is visiting in this county. Mrs. Sallie Maret, Paint Lick, was visiting London and this place during the week. Miss Sallie Taylor, of Offutt, Tenn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Banks, this place.

—Four unknown persons took their horses into the Disputants church Wednesday night after the election and fed them corn in the pulpit, split and burned up some of the seats and left awhile before day. It is thought the parties were from Madison county. Efforts are being made to have the guilty persons arrested.

—Mrs. Bethune became a raving maniac on seeing her mangled husband's remains taken from the Pittsburg, Kas., mines, and going home saturated her five children with kerosene as they lay in bed. She then poured it over herself and setting fire to her clothes lay down with them. She and four children, with the house, were burned up, the other child, a girl of 9, escaping.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—H. T. Noel has moved to his new law office over J. G. Sweeney's store.

—Hunley Singleton bought of Hugh M. Smith his residence on Lexington st. for $1,600.

—Dr. W. W. Gardner and Rev. S. C. Humphreys are conducting a protracted meeting at the Fork.

—It is reported that we are to have three new enterprises soon—two family groceries and one confectionery.

—We hope the proposed meeting to "jubilate" over the election of Harrison will be abandoned. Enough is enough.

—The great Dr. Talmage in his last Sunday's sermon preached exactly what Geo. O. Barnes has been preaching for years concerning the devil and his power. In addition to charging the devil with all sickness, earthquakes and cyclones and the deluge in the days of Noah, he further states that the devil worked destruction in this world before Adam and Eve were created. Now, Barnes has been preaching these truths for years and because of it he has been denounced as a heretic and a follower of Col. Ingersoll. But now that Talmage has stumbled on it, or borrowed it from Barnes, the very pious who go by church "authority," and take whatever they prescribe, will swallow it like maple molasses, because it comes from a "regular." The sermon should be read by all, especially by the religious bigots.

A circular to the medical profession of Kentucky has just been issued by Dr. J. N. McCormack, of the State Board of Health, calling attention to the new medical practice act, requiring every physician now engaged, or who may hereafter engage, in the practice of medicine in this State, to register his diploma in the clerk's office of the county where he is located or proposes to locate, now in effect, and will be made compulsory under heavy penalties, after the 1st day of April, next. Each diploma, except those from medical colleges chartered under the laws of Kentucky, will require to be certified and endorsed as being issued from a reputable and legally chartered medical college before it can be registered in any county. By special agreement Dr. McCormack has been authorized by law to make such endorsement and diplomas should be sent by mail to him, in registered package, including a sufficiency of stamps for return postage. No fee will be charged, but the matter must be attended to promptly by every physician. His address is Bowling Green.

Besides the salary of the President, which is $50,000, there is an official residence provided for him at Washington, which is kept in repair, carpeted, furnished, heated, with a green-house and stable as part of his belongings. Besides this the Chief Executive has allowed him a private secretary, assistant private secretary, stenographer, five messengers, a steward, two doorkeepers, two ushers, a night usher, a watchman, a few other minor clerks and telegraph operators—a total additional appropriation of about $75,000. This looks pretty large, but Queen Victoria is allowed over three millions for herself and household.

The Grandin wheat farm of Dakota consists of more land than any one man can cultivate cleverly and feel at home on. It comprises 40,000 acres, of which 13,000 are under cultivation. Forty-five double-gang plows and harrows are used, 65 self-binding harvesting machines and 6 steam threshers. The threshers, which are very large ones, will each knock out 2,000 bushels of wheat a day. In the use of mule and steam power machinery, every effort is made to economize as much as possible in the employment of men. There is no poetry or domestic bliss in such farming. It is some satisfaction to know that as regions grow older in settlement this big scale kind of farming declines.

The total number of suicides committed in France during the year 1887 was 7,572, of which 2,168 are attributed to mental afflictions of different kinds, 1,228 to physical suffering, 975 to domestic troubles, 800 to drunkenness, 483 to poverty, 305 to pecuniary difficulties, 202 to the desire to avoid imprisonment, 100 to the loss of employment, 89 to the fear of exposure, 56 to the loss of relatives, and 25 to the dread of military service. Among the other causes specified in the returns, 227 suicides are put down to jealousy and crossing in love.—(Pall Mall Gazette.)

A new recipe for stopping rat holes is to moisten old newspapers and knead them into paper mache. Dip the pulp thus formed into a strong solution of oxalic acid, then press the mass while wet into the holes. The rodents will be kept away by the acid, which will make their feet sore and prevent their gnawing. The paper will dry and can be papered or painted.

—The total wealth of the country is estimated at $45,000,000,000. It is said that 1,855 persons own $3,000,000,000 and that 1,000 persons control fortune invested in corporations, etc., rated at $20,000,000,000.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Wm. Elliston, a widower of 34, and Miss Susie, the 18-year-old daughter of Charles Lawson, were married on the 14th.

—Joseph Chamberlain, a member of the English Parliament, has arrived to marry Miss Mary Endicott, a daughter of the mugwump Secretary of War.

—The news comes that Dr. J. Halleck Ballou was married last week to Miss Nellie Ash, of Chicago. The doctor is a brother of Mr. Humphrey Ballou, whose marriage is recorded in this column, and moved to Haven, Kansas, several years ago, where he enjoys a fine medical practice. His friends here send their good wishes.

—In Macon City, Mo., Nov. 13, at the residence of, in the presence of the family of and by Elder J. M. Coleman, Mr. T. S. Jones, a thrifty farmer of Jackson-ville, Randolph county, Mo., and Miss Katie, daughter of Mr. G. S. McKinney, of McKinney, Lincoln county, Ky., were united in marriage. The marriage was a very quiet one and a surprise to their friends. May the same quiet, business-like spirit characterize the couple thro' life. J. M. C.

—Mr. Rollie Guthrie, agent of the L. & N. at New Hope, and Miss Susie Pottinger, of Nelson county, were married Tuesday at the residence of the bride's parents near Gethsemane. Mr. Guthrie lived here several years and made the reputation of being an excellent young business man. His wife is a lovely little brunette and is highly accomplished. They spent a day or two of their bridal trip with Mr. Guthrie's sister here, Mrs. J. A. Carpenter.

—The marriage of Mr. Humphrey Ballou to Miss Nellie, daughter of Mr. B. W. Gaines, was consummated at the latter's residence Wednesday afternoon, Elder Jos. Ballou performing the ceremony. The attendants were Miss Ellen Ballou and Mr. Robert Gaines; Miss Elma Baker and Mr. C. L. Crow. Immediately after the knot was tied the bridal party drove to the groom's father's, where an elegant reception awaited them. Mr. Ballou is to be congratulated on the happy fruition of his hopes. He has been a devoted suitor and deserves the excellent little woman's tenderest love. A clever, industrious and capable man, he will always have the wherewithal to keep the wolf from the door and provide for her handsomely. May he and "his little black-eyed beauty" be always as happy as now. They left yesterday for Lancaster, where Mr. Ballou will open up a grocery store at once.

THERE is complaint in the press all over Kentucky and the South of the insolence of the negroes since the election, and nowhere is this more noticeable than in Owensboro. The result of such conduct, if it is not summarily stopped, will be bloodshed. A number of law-abiding but determined men in this city have resolved not to be insulted or have their families insulted by low and disreputable negroes, and though the mortality among them has been large since the 4th of August, as a result of differences among themselves, it will probably be greater before the holidays are over, unless they learn to keep their proper places.—[Owensboro Messenger.]

"I don't say marriage is a failure," said Adam, candidly, as he sat down on a log, just outside the Garden of Eden, and looked hungrily at the fruit on the other side of the wall, "but if I had remained single this wouldn't have happened."—[Chicago Tribune.]

—The woolen mills at Tullahoma, Tenn., burned; loss $75,000.

W. P. WALTON.

Among the first things that the republicans will do on regaining power will be the admission of three new States, Dakota, Montana and Washington. As each is largely republican, this will add six more Senators and 12 or 15 more Congressmen to their majority and then fortified in place, they will make it even more difficult than ever for the democrats to storm their breastworks. In the meantime they will see the drift of sentiment for tariff reduction and will pass some such a bill as that introduced in the Senate to pull the wool over the eyes of the people. It looks considerably like the g. o. p. had come to stay another seige, but God reigns and we shall pin our trust on the hope that defeat will so reunite the democracy that when the battle of the ballots shall again wage four years from now, we shall wipe it off of the face of the earth.

Is an article commemorating the 20th birthday of the Courier-Journal, Mr. Watterson says "On the question of tariff reform the paper enlisted early, and for the war, and never means to give it up until the purpose of the Constitution is achieved and the dream of the reformer realized in a tariff exclusively for public purposes, a tariff for revenue only, equal and exact justice to all, exclusive privileges to none. Though beaten now, victory is inevitable. And so, as we said 'Good-morrow' that November morning 20 years ago, do we say 'Good-morrow' to-day; nothing daunted by disaster; nothing dismayed by dangers; nothing distrustful of that God, which is a good and a just God, and, by whose grace and help we have not the least doubt that we shall live to see the republican party—which we sincerely believe to be an aggregation of all that is false in our public life—wiped from the face of the earth which it disgraces."

CARLISLE'S majority is 6,052, but an examination of the ballots cast for him shows that 7,502 were perforated, enough to defeat him should the very fine point be insisted on by the republican House. But it dare not unsettle Carlisle in the face of such a majority. Should it, however, have the gall to do so, it would give the gentleman such an advantage for the U. S. Senatorship that all the combined hosts of the other candidates could not defeat him. Carlisle in the Senate and McCreary Speaker of the House of the 52d Congress, which we take it now will be democratic, would be an arrangement which would give eminent satisfaction both to Kentucky and to the nation.

There will be 325 members in the next House of Representatives and the verified returns show that 160 democrats and 160 republicans have certainly been elected, with five districts in doubt. These are the 1st and 5th California, 2d Louisiana, 10th Michigan and 1st West Virginia. In Louisiana the chances are in favor of the republicans, in the other districts they are practically even. If the republicans get three more it will give them the organization of the House and after that with the number of contests suggested they will make their majority as large as they want it. Justice and right never enter into their calculations, when party advantage is at stake.

It is stated that Hon. A. M. Swope will likely be appointed Commissioner of Internal Revenue. He would make a good one, having had much experience in the business as Collector of the Lexington District, which he filled most creditably. We were "fornest" the handsome Colonel in his late race for Congress, but we are for him now for anything good Mr. Harrison may have in store for him.

The republicans will not abolish the internal revenue system, as their platform promised. There are too many hungry office-seekers to provide for. The Little Red Hog will want to get astride a whisky barrel again, while Lawyer Davison will have to have something of the sort for his Herculean services.

TOM AGEE didn't profit by his brother's death on the gallows, but went in less than a year afterwards and laid himself liable to the same penalty by killing Dode Jenkins, at Lexington. It will be well when the last of the murderous set feels the halter draw.

The welcome frosts have come to decatur and all fears of a continuation of the yellow fever reign are dispelled. The quarantine against it has been opened and L. & N. trains now stop there, the first time for several months.

OMO has taken the place of old Virginia as the mother of presidents. Every republican elected to that office since Lincoln—Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Harrison, first saw the light in that rotten burrough.

THE latest from the House is that the democrats claim it by 1 and the republicans by 3. May the good Lord help it to be the former.

CLEVELAND has a popular majority of over 100,000. It was but a little over 60,000 before and still he is not elected this time.

The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette, whose editor, Murat Halstead, hates the prohibitionists about as bad as he does the South, says with his usual bitterness: "The expression of great surprise at the size of the prohibitory presidential vote in Indiana is attributed to Gen. Harrison. He does not understand how, with his record as a temperate and temperance man, nearly 10,000 citizens of his own State deliberately threw away their votes in an election that history will record was the most momentous of the generation. It is shocking and it is scandalous; and one of the things the republican party must more and more do in the future is to discourage and fight the third party foolery and fanaticism. In the very places where the republican party has done the most for the cause of temperance within practical lines, there has been the greatest increase of the third party mischief. Pass the word along the republican lines that this sort of cattle are to be branded for the slaughter house, and never spared. They should have the distinction of being the most impracticable breed of fools in the world."

THERE is a pretty general disposition among democrats to concede the right of the republicans to the offices as soon as the next president shall be inaugurated, but we concur with the INTERIOR JOURNAL in the opinion that there is no particular propriety in democrats signing petitions to have democrats put out and republicans put into their places. The ejections will go on fast enough after March 4th, and if Mr. Harrison wishes the assistance of democrats he will doubtless ask for it.—(Louisville Times).

EXCEPT for his politics, John L. Wilson, the republican elected to Congress in the 10th district is fully as good man as the defeated Day and neither is much to brag of. Wilson is about 40 years of age and has served one term in the Kentucky Senate. He was the founder and for some time the editor of the Mountain Echo, and while a poor speaker, is still a man of considerable ability, more respectable in every respect than the other Kentucky republican Congressman, Frank Finley.

THE solid South was not broken after all. The democrats carried West Virginia for the National ticket by 1,000 majority, elected a governor, 3 if not 4 Congressmen, and the legislature by 3 or 4 majority on joint ballot. A corruption fund has been sent to change this, but it is not likely to succeed.

CARUTH'S majority as officially reported is 3,027. Considering the mean fight made against him, this is a most remarkable victory and shows that Louisville is still possessed of a big majority of men who are willing to put their feet down on such measly methods as were resorted to to defeat Caruth.

AN Internal Revenue store-keeper at Louisville took the result of the election so much to heart that he has gone raving crazy. It is pretty hard to give up a good, fat thing, but it is to be hoped that asylums will not be overrun by men like the above.

RETURNS from 113 of the 119 counties of Kentucky show Cleveland's majority so far at 26,397. The other counties will increase this somewhat. While not so good as at first claimed, it is still more than 10,000 greater than Governor Buckner's.

It is some consolation anyhow to know that Belva Ann Lockwood takes her defeat with great composure. We feared she would tear her sh—, no her ch—, when she heard the shocking news.

THE Hopkinsville New Era threatens to become a daily in the near future. Well, Hunter Wood will need something to amuse him after George W. Jolly succeeds him as collector of that district.

THE Foremost Weekly Newspaper of the Central West.

The Weekly Gazette, of Cincinnati, stands in the front rank of weekly newspapers of the Nation. For general news, at home and abroad, correct market reports, sketches of travel, short stories, adventures, for boys and girls, it is not surpassed East or West. It is, strictly speaking, a Family Paper, and worth several times the subscription price. The advertisement appears in another column.

—By the burning of Bryant's Hotel at Chattanooga, three persons lost their lives, Maj. Bigler, of Atlanta, Thomas Moore, of Bloomington, Ill., guests, and Eula Jones, white chambermaid.

—The number of vessels hailing from Gloucester, Mass., which have been lost during the year, is 14, one more than during the previous year. The total loss of life is 63, leaving 16 children fatherless.

—The contents of the late Samuel J. Tilden's wine cellar were sold Tuesday. Steinberger sold at $3.50 to $9 per bottle, double old Maderia at $3.50 and some Blue-Grass whisky, 40 years old, at $11.50 per gallon.

—During a republican celebration at Brazil, Indiana, some one threw a bunch of fire crackers on the stairway at the residence of Wm. Barr. His wife, who was subject to heart disease, dropped dead from the excitement.

—The sentence of Mrs. Mary J. Robinson, who was to have been hanged in Boston, Mass., to-day, for the murder of her brother-in-law, Prince A. Freeman, in 1885, has been commuted to solitary imprisonment for life.

—Mrs. Matilda Hellerman, aged 28 years, was shot and killed in Philadelphia Tuesday by a young widower named Peter Kriebelman, who claims that she brought about the ruin and death of his wife, which occurred a few weeks ago.

—Suici, the Italian faster, who claims to possess an elixir which renders food unnecessary, has just finished a fast of 30 days at Barcelona, Spain. He walked, fenced and slept during his foodless month, and retained his health and strength.

—Peter Howe, senior member of the banking firm of Howe & Son, of Winona, Ill., and his wife, were assassinated Sunday night by Charles Burkhardt, who afterwards committed suicide by cutting his throat, when he found himself suspected of the murder.

—It is claimed that the shrinkage in the internal commerce and business of the country during the past four months, owing to the election excitement, amounts to not less than $500,000,000. The claim is used as an argument in favor of extending the presidential term.

—Henry Rowe, of Hart county, asked Miss Sallie Logsdon to marry him, which she consented to do, provided he would promise her never to take another drink of whisky. Rowe soon afterwards blew out his brains, and Miss Logsdon has become insane, her recovery being despaired of. Rowe was a young man of steady habits, aged about 18 years.

—W. S. Schumaker, postmaster at Carbon Hill, Ala., has been in such a state of mind over the result of the presidential election, that even the blandishments of a bride of 17 years have been lost upon him. He got drunk and going home attempted to kill her, when she seized a pistol and got in her work first, killing him instantly.

—Minister Buck is about to get up a war with Peru, before he leaves never to hold public office again. When the Peruvian government seized the railroads of the country, a squad of soldiers took forcible possession of a building supposed to belong to the Arequipa railway, but occupied by the United States Consul at Mollendo. The coat of arms was removed, the door padlocked and the Consul kept out of his office for a week. An apology was demanded and refused and Buck has notified this government.

—Louisville voted by a good majority Wednesday to issue a million dollars in bonds for street purposes.

—Taylor's majority for governor of Tennessee is fully 30,000, the largest democratic majority for years.

IT HAS LED TO THE SEIZURE OF SOME AMERICAN VESSELS.

They Have Been Detected, So It Is Charged, with Conveying Arms and Munitions to the Insurgents, and the Kearsarge Goes to Look After Them.

When President Grant attempted to annex the San Domingo end of the Island of Hayti, and was vigorously opposed by Senators Schurz, Sumner and others, the American people were suddenly awakened to the fact that they had at their very doors, and waiting to be taken, one of the richest and most interesting islands in the world. They were literally sufficed with information about it; for annexation was made an "administration measure," and fought over in the senate during all of 1870, and early in 1871 a commission sent to the island by vote of congress was accompanied by a corps of keen eyed correspondents. All agreed that the province was literally full of undeveloped wealth, but it was assumed that "We really do not want the country if we have to take the people with it."

The excitement ceased as suddenly as it rose, and for seventeen years Americans ignored Hayti; then it was announced that they had had another revolution there and the two districts of the island were united under one government, and now it appears that there is an insurrection, that the Haytian rulers have seized some American ships on the ground that they took arms to the "rebels," and that Secretary Bayard has sent thither a naval cruiser, the famous Kearsarge that destroyed the Alabama. So interest is revived in the black-and-tan republic.

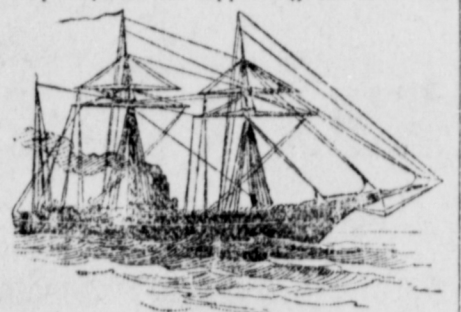

Hayti is historically the most interesting of islands, for on the first islet off its coast was land in the New World sighted by Columbus. He landed there in December, 1492, and named it Hispaniola, meaning "Little Spain."

The simple and unwarlike natives died off rapidly under Spanish rule, and were replaced by negroes to such an extent that the latter grew too strong to be kept down. In 1625-1627 the French obtained possession of the west half of the island, and developed it so rapidly that it long furnished all the cotton and sugar consumed by France, and a surplus was sold to the rest of Europe. The division between French and Spanish sections continued till this year, the former known as San more correctly Santo Domingo, and the latter as Hayti. The French revolution resulted in the emancipation of the negroes; Bonaparte in 1801 attempted to restore slavery, and then rose the great Toussaint L'Ouverture, who maintained independence till he was betrayed and taken to France, where he died. The wars that followed were long and terrible, but in the end both sections of the island became independent.

There has since been, on the average, a revolution once in seven years, and two or three short wars between the two governments. The island is 405 miles long, its area 28,000 square miles and its total population 750,000, of whom nearly 300,000 are whites or mulattoes, the rest of all shades from pure black down through griff, metif, mulatto, quadroon and octoroon to melanoid and leucoid, the last two known to have African blood only by their family record, as none but an expert could trace the trituration. No other tropical island can compare with Hayti for general healthfulness; the average of life is equal to that of the United States. Only once in ten years the mercury rose above 95 degs. on the central lands, but it has gone to 104 degs. at Port au Prince. The soil is of incalculable fertility, the forests abundant in the most valuable hard woods, the mountains are rich in minerals of all kinds, and the gold mines were once so productive that from a single district the viceroy of the Spanish province sent home the annual tax of $500,000, and enough was retained to defray all local expenses. There is no deep mining now, and only a little washing of gold sands by the poorest class of people. The island is easily capable of supporting ten times its present population, and in great comfort, but there must be a more efficient government.

The late difficulty appears to have grown out of the fact that the Haytian authorities declared a blockade of the ports held by the insurgents without giving other governments the notice required by international law. The British schooner Alta sailed from New York Oct. 19 with a cargo largely composed of arms and other munitions of war, which were supposed by the firm that furnished them to be designed for Venezuela. She was found cruising in Haytian waters, and was seized by the Haytian man-of-war Toussaint L'Ouverture. When the Haytians found that she had on board 150 boxes of rifles and a corresponding amount of fixed ammunition they at once began a vigorous hunt among other vessels from the United States and seized the Haytian Republic, a steamer owned in Boston. The offense charged against this vessel was that of carrying some armed insurgents from one port to another. Other American vessels were put under an annoying surveillance, and the relations between the two republics became, as diplomats would say, "strained." Hence the dispatch of the Kearsarge, ordered by Secretary Bayard.

THE KEARSARGE

The American steam sloop Kearsarge is the same that, under command of Capt. A. Winslow, won such renown by sinking the famed privateer Alabama, Capt. Raphael Semmes, near Cherbourg, France, on Sunday, June 19, 1864. Even for that time the Kearsarge was not a war vessel of the first class, and Capt. Winslow had armor plating her middle section by the naval device of wrapping them with cable chains, which were planked over. Capt. Semmes afterwards complained bitterly of this "deceit," as it practically drew him into a fight with an armored vessel, his own having bare wooden sides. But it is not for a civilian writer twenty-four years afterwards to decide how far strategem and deceit may honestly go in war. The public applaud the man who succeeds.

People who try deaf mutes as servants generally find that they don't answer.

When you go out angling with your best girl it is well to take your fishing smack along.

There is a policeman in Boston who has carried his club for fourteen years and has never struck any thing but attitudes in all that time.

It takes philosophy to make a man happy in this world. If he can't get philosophy, a couple of hundred thousand dollars will generally do.

Lend a dishonest man money and you will find him out sooner or later. He will be out when you call for the return of your money.

Let dogs delight to bark and bite. For 'tis their nature to. But when the cats squall loud at night, Blame out and kill a few.

"Well, Mr. Solomon, how wash beens?" "Meester Isaac, it wash very bad." "Yoost so mit me, Mr. Solomon. I couldn't pay mine debts often if I had der monies."

He was rich and ignorant, and when he consulted a builder concerning a new house, he said: "I want a wide piazza on three sides, where the children can ride their little cyclopedias, and enjoy themselves."

"What did you see at church?" grandfather asked Minnie after her first visit to the sanctuary. "I saw a man come in with his night-gown on, and he was so 'shamed he hid his face in his hands a little while 'fore he dared to say a word."

"What was Elijah translated?" asked the Sunday-school teacher. As none of the class replied very promptly, a thin youth in the back row ventured the explanation: "Possibly it was because he wasn't understood in his own language."

"Gentlemen," said a candidate in the Far West, after having given his sentiments on the "Constitution," the "Monroe Doctrine," and such like topics—"Gentlemen," and he put his hand on the region of his heart—"these are my sentiments—the sentiments, gentlemen, of an honest man—aye, an honest politician; but, gentlemen and fellow-citizens, if they don't suit you they can be altered!"

Philosopher (to sharp boy)—"What are the properties of heat?" Boy—"The chief property is that it expands bodies, while cold contracts them." Philosopher—"Very good; give me an example." Boy—"In summer, when it is hot, the days are long; in winter, when it is cold, the day is short."

Exit philosopher, lost in amazement that so familiar an instance should have so long escaped his own observation.

SOUND AND SAPIENT.

SPEAK only good of people unless duty requires us to express their faults.

BEAUTY half concealed becomes more beautiful from the slight snatches we obtain.

ALL virtue that is worthy of praise is silent about itself. The sun need never say: "I am bright."

LANGUAGE is abused when used to enhance our own troubles by making them known to others to awaken sympathy.

THE less men complain under heavy griefs, the more true sympathy they will obtain, although that sympathy from wise natives, is not expressed.

LANGUAGE is abused when made the vehicle of anger or passion. Insults or ill-treatment that would soon be forgotten by golden silence are fanned into rage when the tongue begins to play its fiery part.

A MAN is known by his deeds and not his words. Words are wind; deeds are gold. Hence our own good qualities should never be voiced by us. We tarnish our own best deeds when we praise them.

WORDS of anger destroy self-respect and the respect of others. Every wise thing can be better said when free from anger and passionate feelings. "He that hath no rule over his own spirit is like a city broken down and without walls."

SPEECH, to the scandal-monger or gossip-bearer, is worse than vitriol in the hands of a fool; used only for evil, without the least counterbalancing good. It destroys, blindly, just for the love of destroying the good name and happiness of others.

A CUT finger heals soonest by keeping it from the air; a wounded heart by silence. A wise comforter will not open the wounds of a distressed heart by any allusion to the dead. Covered wounds heal without a scar; once exposed and you bear the marks for life.

If wife scolds and neglects her household; if husband is unkind; if friends neglect you, it is far better to keep it to yourself than to fan the flame of sorrow in your own bosom by giving vent to the fire within. The more completely a fire is smothered the sooner and easier it is extinguished. Putting a blanket over the person whose clothes are in flames is far more efficient in extinguishing the fire than running out into the wind.

A PENNY saved is a penny earned," is a homely adage which the old and prudent have for generations past repeated to the annoyance of the young and prodigal. But it is wonderfully true, and more yet, the penny saved is a sort of "breeding-groshen" of the German tale—other people cluster around it, and by and by multiply into the sum desired for some charity or some long-hoped-for possession.

Demands prompt treatment. The results of neglect may be serious. Avoid all harsh and drastic purgatives, the tendency of which is to weaken the bowels. The best remedy is Ayer's Pills. Being purely vegetable, their action is prompt and their effect always beneficial. They are an admirable Liver and After-dinner pill, and everywhere endorsed by the profession.

"Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."—Dr. I. E. Fowler, Bridgeport, Conn.

"I suffered from constipation which assumed such an obstinate form that I feared it would cause a stoppage of the bowels. Two boxes of Ayer's Pills effected a complete cure."—D. Burke, Saco, Me.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years and consider them an invaluable family medicine. I know of no better remedy for liver troubles, and have always found them a prompt cure for dyspepsia."—James Quinn, 30 Middle st., Hartford, Conn.

"Having been troubled with costiveness, which seems inevitable with persons of sedentary habits, I have tried Ayer's Pills, hoping for relief. I am glad to say that they have served me better than any other medicine. I arrive at this conclusion only after a faithful trial of their merits."—Samuel T. Jones, Oak st., Boston, Mass.
